How can your infrastructure be intelligent? When Oakwood leads the way! We work with businesses just like yours to assess your current infrastructure using advances in information and communication technologies. We build world-class applications to help you monitor, model and make better decisions to help move your business forward.

Oakwood's Service Offerings

Azure Active Directory

A fully-managed multi-tenant service from Microsoft offering identity and access capabilities for applications running in Azure and applications running on-premises.

Application

Our white box strategy reviews and analyzes the design and code of a specific application. When there is no access to code, a black box approach is used.

Hybrid Cloud

We create hybrid cloud environments with a mix of on-premises, private, and third-party, public cloud services. Enjoy greater flexibility and more data deployment options.

Active Directory

We help create a centralized, standardized directory system that automates network management of your user data, security, and resources.

Mobile Device Management

We will build a security software solution to monitor, manage and secure mobile devices deployed across various providers and operating systems in your company.

Business Communication Suite

We'll define and build for you a secure, mobile communication platform. The benefit? Online meetings, video conferencing, document collaboration, chat, and voice communication.

Internet/Intranet Collaboration Platform

We construct a Microsoft SharePoint platform allowing better workflow, document management, and collaboration. Easily store, sync and share files across multiple platforms.

Identity Management

We'll create and build a secure environment for your workforce credentials. Add new capabilities to keep your identity central, safe and easy to administer.

Azure Stack

This hybrid cloud platform allows you to bring nearly full public Azure functionality to your own on-premises data centers. The power of the cloud and control of your database.
